FORTS BOMB MONASTERY AT CASSINO

This Jap Gave Up To Yanks

Fright showing plainly in his face, this Jap prisoner—captured during the Yank invasion of the Marshall Islands—scrambles up the gangplank of a U. S. vessel on which he is questioned. The two sailors, with rifles ready in the barge below, seem to be itching to let the Jap have a sample of their fire-power if he should attempt a break for freedom.

Flying Forts Blast Monastery to Ruin

By LYNN HEINZERLING

WITH FIFTH ARMY AT CASSINO, Feb. 15 (AP)—Scores of American Flying Fortresses poured salvos of heavy bombs across the peak of Mt. Cassino today, some squarely hitting the famous St. Benedict Monastery converted by the Germans into a fortress. High explosives from at least two strings of bombs smashed directly on the roof of the abbey, founded in 529 A. D.

REDS BLOCK NAZI ATTEMPT TO FREE ARMY

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Feb. 15 (AP)—The Red army has halted a heavy tank attack launched by the Germans northwest of Zvenigorodka in an unsuccessful attempt to rescue large Nazi forces hopelessly trapped in the Cherkassy pocket, the Army newspaper Red Star said today, while at the northern end of the front two Soviet armies are moving closer to the German-held stronghold of Pskov.

Red Star declared the German tank attack in the northwest corner of the upper Dnieper bend was exceedingly fierce and Field Marshal von Manstein apparently was unmindful of the amount of men and machines he was losing.

Fighting was most violent northwest of Zvenigorodka and west of captured Korsun, core of Nazi resistance in the Cherkassy death ring.

Of the 100,000 to 150,000 Germans originally reported trapped by the Red army, there is reason to believe not more than 50,000 remain, Red Star said. The capture of Korsun saw many Nazis die, dispatches said, while the battles of the last few days have greatly increased the enemy death toll.

Time Out to Bury Dead Given Nazis By Yanks in Italy

By GRAHAM HOVEY

WITH FIFTH ARMY AT CASSINO, Feb. 14 (delayed) (INS)—For the second time in three weeks, German forces in the Cassino area were granted a "silence" period today along a small sector in order to bury their dead. Between 9:45 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. enemy burial parties picked up more than 200 bodies in the tiny salient.

The silence period was something unknown in the Mediterranean theater until it first was granted by the Americans on Jan. 22.

On Sunday afternoon, soldiers at an American infantry company command post on the Cassilone sector saw two German first-aid men approaching. A United States sergeant was dispatched to find out what was wanted and reported a request for cessation of fire between 8 and 11 a. m. Monday.

The high Allied authorities granted the request but the Germans failed to recontact the command post for the answer.

This morning, however, the enemy first aid men again approached the command post and said they still desired a truce. They had already started collecting their dead. By noon they had gathered up 143 bodies.

The enemy collectors were not permitted within sight of installations of the American division involved, so 43 bodies lying in the vicinity were taken by U. S. troops to a point forward, where they were transferred.

A two-hour extension of the truce was granted when the Germans found they were unable to collect all bodies in the original time limit. The area covered by the truce was less than a square mile.

Soviet Amphibious Force in Estonia

LONDON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Berlin radio declared today a "small" Soviet amphibious force landed yesterday in Narva bay behind the German line in Estonia.

The "landed enemy force made several attacks on a coastal battery, but was repelled with heavy losses," the broadcast said.

YANKS LAUNCH ALL-OUT DRIVE TOWARD ROME

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Feb. 15 (AP)—U. S. Flying Fortresses today bombed Mt. Cassino and its historic monastery, transformed by the Nazis into a fortress, beginning an all-out offensive to crack the German line while ground troops maintained pressure both in the Cassino and Anzio invasion bridgehead areas.

Doughboys battling in Cassino below were said unofficially to have occupied one-third of that bastion town in bitter house-to-house fighting.

On the invasion bridgehead to the west, Allied troops threw back a small German attack in the Carroccio (Aprilia) area, and repulsed a Nazi patrol in the Cisterna area northeast of Anzio. Artillerymen broke up German attempts to bridge a stream 10 miles above Anzio at Vellemandata, Allied headquarters announced.

Liberators and Flying Fortresses struck powerfully yesterday at enemy rail and highway communications in northern Italy, pouring troops and supplies southward for battle. They concentrated on a triangular area between Arezzo south of Florence to Verona, southern terminus for rail lines from Germany through the Brenner Pass.

Yanks Seize Japs' Umboi Isle

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

Associated Press War Editor
The steadily improved position of the United Nations in the Southwest Pacific was enhanced further today by American occupation of a small but strategic island and between New Guinea and New Britain.

U. S. troops seized Rooke (Umboi) island unopposed Saturday to complete Allied domination of both Vitiaz and Dampier straits along the supply line for the Bismarck archipelago.

The Japanese made aerial at-

Nazi troops have taken up positions there, Allied headquarters declared, to send murderous fire against U. S. troops assaulting the hill overlooking the town of Cassino.

Smoke poured from the roof of the abbey itself, and the earth-shaking bombs sent up great plumes of gray and black smoke. (The British radio said "100 Flying Fortresses flew over the peak of Mt. Cassino and pounded German positions there.")

HIT BY FIFTY BOMBS

(The German communique broadcast by Berlin said Mt. Cassino Abbey was bombed, "although no German soldiers were either in the monastery or the vicinity. Heavy damage was caused." Another broadcast asserted the monastery "was destroyed by British bombs.")

BULLETINS

NAPLES, Feb. 15 (AP)—Allied ground forces poured heavy fire into Germans who fled the Benedictine Monastery atop Mt. Cassino today after it was bombed by flying fortresses, 300 Germans were caught in artillery fire, a military spokesman here said.

At the first explosion from the air bombs about a hundred Germans ran out of the monastery and were raked with fire. After the second attack 200 Germans made a break for fresh cover, but were caught in artillery fire.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—Max Hill, NBC reporter on the Cassino front, radioed today that Allied artillery units began shelling the Benedictine Monastery on Mt. Cassino after more than 100 American planes had bombed the building.

rect hits and said it was in partial ruins. "The outer walls of the ancient monastery are still standing, but the blue dome with its cross is gone, and there are gaping holes in the walls."

The Fifth Army has fought for nearly two weeks to smash the town of Cassino and the rocky peaks around the abbey without damaging the old monastery.

MONKS WARNED AWAY

But the slopes of Monastery Hill have been honeycombed with German machine gun nests and sniper positions, and Allied officers asserted the enemy has been using the monastery itself for machine gun posts.

Many of the relics stored in the buildings are believed to have been

BAY OF BISCAY—An area of 200,000 square miles (dotted line), covering entire Bay of Biscay, has been closed to shipping by the British admiralty, leading to new speculation on possible invasion points.

BRITISH CLOSE BAY OF BISCAY; INVASION DUE?

By PIERRE J. HUSS

LONDON, Feb. 15 (INS)—Invasion of Europe loomed closer today as the British admiralty warned shipping out of 200,000 square miles of the Bay of Biscay.

The admiralty announced the bay and the territorial seas of Ireland have been rendered unsafe for shipping, presumably by mines. Combined with continued aerial softening-up of the continent, the announcement was interpreted by some as a basic move to co-ordinate Allied shipping with the invasion prelude.

The affected area involves 200,000 square miles and also blocks the end of St. George's channel, clearing the territorial waters of southern Ireland.

(In Washington, Navy Secretary Knox praised the British action as a blow against German blockade runners.

"No ship can use the bay except by permission of the British fleet," Knox commented. "This should reduce to a minimum the transportation of goods to Germany through France."

Rome Bombed, Says Nazi Radio

LONDON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The Rome radio said that Rome was bombed at 10:30 a. m. today.

"Allied planes dived down to machine-gun the population," the broadcast asserted.

Invasion Coast Pounded Again

LONDON, Feb. 15 (INS)—Allied bombers hammered at the invasion coast of northern France by daylight today, hitting military objectives.

The raiders lost three aircraft to seven for the Japs.

Two enemy planes were smashed on the ground in a 147-ton assault on Kavieng, New Ireland, which drew not a single enemy fighter into the air. Seven more parked aircraft were destroyed at Wewak, northeastern New Guinea, where again there was no interception.

Eniwetok atoll, prime stepping-stone from Truk, Jap naval base in the Carolines, has been hammered for three days by carrier-based planes. No fighter or ground opposition was noted.

Murders Wife, Takes Own Life In Maine Home

BINGHAM, Me., Feb. 15—A terrified little girl, stumbling through the dark and snow with only a coat over her nightgown awakened neighbors to tragedy early this morning—the murder of her mother and suicide of her father, the slayer.

The child, Lillian Bigelow, 4, staggered through snowdrifts to the door of Mrs. Floyd Beane, roused her and sobbed:

"Something's happened at home." In the house from which the girl had fled, Mrs. Sylvia Bigelow, 21, her mother, was stretched lifeless on the floor, a rifle bullet through her back. Beside her lay the body of her husband, Thomas Bigelow, Jr., 29, who had shot himself through the mouth with the same gun.

In the dooryard, shivering in her nightclothes and crying, was another child, Lydia. She had tried to follow her sister, but the snowdrifts were too deep for her little legs.

Upstairs, still asleep in his crib, was the baby, Thomas, 3d, 5 months old.

First to reach the home was Bigelow's brother-in-law, Fred Owens. He looked through the window and saw the two bodies on the floor. Owens ran to the center of the village and awoke Maurice Atkins, selectman.

Officials and neighbors pieced the story together. The Bigelows had entertained last night and their guests left shortly after midnight. Then the couple had quarreled.

"I'm satisfied the cause was jealousy," said Sheriff Martin Gallant. "The shooting must have taken place soon after the company left. Bigelow used a 38-55 rifle."

The sheriff did not reveal the identity of the guests.

Errol Flynn's Pal Ordered Deported

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15 (AP)—Owen Cathcart-Jones, former Canadian Air Force squadron leader who was one of the principal defense witnesses in the trial of screen star Errol Flynn, has been ordered deported because he lacks a proper immigration visa.

Cathcart-Jones testified for Flynn that 16-year-old Peggy Satterlee, the actor's accuser, frequently visited the Cathcart-Jones apartment and that "she knew her way around."

Little Extras Comfort Boys

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (By Transport Mail)—It is Sunday and the troops of the —th Infantry have just come down from a six day "problem"—grim, disheveled, bored and fagged. All they wanted were soapy baths and a chance to get into town where they could sit over mugs of thin British beer and dream—not big thoughts, but pleasant empty ones that required no energy.

There was no reveille, so few arose for 8 o'clock breakfast. But they were up for church and after that they evaporated like mist, each according to his funds, his town contacts or his ingenuity. But some went to the regimental movie in the oblong, brown recreation hall where an old and yellowing rendition of "The Sky's the Limit," with Fred Astaire doing his dance gymnastics, was showing. So the writer went there, too—not to watch the postage stamp screen with its wheezy sound effects, but to summon New Englanders—if any—from the rows of wooden benches.

The movie projector was one of those single reel models which required intervals of tinkering with the celluloid cylinders and sound track. So, while the lights were on, the deed was done—"Are there any Greater Boston men in the house?" There were! Five hands rose to the vociferous applause of the other 47 states and staccato yelps "What about Toledo?" or, in a thick molasses accent, "Ah'm 'om Noo Awleens." The five were:

1st Inside Story: Visitor Tells of Gloom in Japan

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, Feb. 15 (AP)—Japanese students are digging slit trenches against air raids in all large cities, the rationing of food and wine has been tightened and arrests for

"dangerous thoughts" are increasing in Japan, a Chinese graduate of the Imperial University of Tokyo said today on his arrival in Chungking.

The student named Yin Tso was sent to Tokyo by the puppet government of Manchuria. He graduated last summer, went to Peiping and thence escaped to Chungking.

He said the attitude of the Japanese people toward the war varied from high optimism during Axis successes to dark despondency over defeats. Japanese reverses in the Solomons hurt morale and the losses of Attu and Kiska in the Aleutians were exceptionally severe blows, he said.

During the last few months, the people have become increasingly gloomy.

Yin Tso said letters abroad were subjected to the strictest censorship and all mention of commodity shortages was deleted.

He said food rationing in Japan had become increasingly strict since Pearl Harbor and students and teachers received less than a quarter pound of rice a day. Bean curd, once plentiful, has been denied to students. Fish, one of the most common Japanese foods, now is available only twice a month and one small fish is divided among 15 families.

EAT WHALE MEAT

Because of the food shortage, Yin Tso said Japanese students were forced to conserve their energy. They take very little exercise and go to bed early in the hope that sleep will appease their hunger.

He said whale meat was popular in Tokyo and whale skin shoes were in demand because all leather goods to the army. Most Japanese, however, wear wooden clogs.

Socks are rationed to six pairs a year per person. One cake of soap must last three months. Kimonos have been shortened and now rarely cover the knees. Wine is limited by strict rationing and long queues are always seen outside shops having new supplies.

Metals were being collected everywhere. Window bars, iron gates, hardware and even nails from homes were being added to the scrap heap. Buddhists even surrendered their sacred bells and statues.

12 Bay Staters Win Air Honors

Twelve Massachusetts men of the China-Burma-India air service command under Brig-Gen. Robert C. Oliver, were promoted and awarded the good conduct medal, a dispatch from India revealed today.

Promoted to corporal were: Raymond L. Hill, of Adams st., Dorchester; and Olat W. Johnson, Wintemay st., Natick. Richard E. O'Palerty, of Lindell st., Roslindale; and Arthur E. Johnson, of Edridge st., Newton, were advanced to privates first class.

Good conduct medals were awarded to Staff Sgt. Frank J. Campillo, Jr., of Oakland st., Malden; Sgt. Whitely L. Zigarski, of Pittfield; Staff Sgt. Charles F. McKenna, no address given; and Sgt. Leonard L. Tokol of Fall River.

Everett Man 'Ground Ace'

WITH THE ARMY ON BOUGAINVILLE, Feb. 5 (AP). (delayed)—Pfc. Johnny Coreggio, a sharpshooter from Everett, Mass., says the way the Airforce reckons things he already is a "ground ace," but he wants to make it an "even dozen."

The Air Force designate a flier who has shot down five or more enemy planes an ace.

During a recent combat patrol beyond our lines here Coreggio shot six Japanese—corroborated by his commanding officer. He spotted a group of Japs comfortably bivouaced (one Jap was shaving), and killed five with an M-1 rifle, bayoneted a sixth. He rounded out the day by blowing up a machinegun nest with a hand grenade.

The patrol knocked off 25 Japs during the mission without losing a man.

19 N. E. Solons Openly Favor Legion's Bill

By FRANK REILLY

Boston American Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15—Nineteen New Englanders—every member of the House from New England polled to date—were on record today as favoring prompt passage of the American Legion's omnibus bill for rehabilitation of veterans.

An informal poll conducted by the Legion reveals a total of 121 representatives in active support of the "Bill of Rights for G-I Joe and G-I Jane," but Legion officials urged relatives and friends of servicemen to continue their deluge of messages to Washington, demanding enactment of the measure.

"The poll is moderately encouraging so far, but we are still a long way from the 218 votes needed in the House for passage," said Francis M. Sullivan, Legion legislative director.

ENVIALE RECORD

Among the larger delegations in Congress, that from Massachusetts has established an enviable record, with 11 members actively working for passage of the bill, two barred by illness from active participation and one forced to take a leave of absence.

Those supporting the bill include Cong. John W. McCormack, House majority leader, and Cong. Joseph W. Martin, minority leader, together with Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers and her colleagues, James M. Curley, Thomas J. Lane, Philip J. Philbin, Christian A. Herter, Charles R. Clason, George J. Bates, Angier L. Goddard and Richard B. Wigglesworth.

The Bay State representatives unable to take part in the drive are Allen Treadway, III; Charles L. Gifford, victim of a recent street car accident, and Pehr Holmes, on leave in order to be with his ill mother.

N. H. JOINS UP

New Hampshire's two representatives, Charles Merrow and Foster T. Stearns, have promised their full support of the veterans' measure, as has Vermont's only member of the House, Charles A. Plumley.

Of the three Maine representatives, only Frank Fellows has been recorded to date but it is strongly expected that his associates, Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith and Robert Hale, will join with him.

Three Connecticut votes have already been promised, by William J. Miller, Renaud Compton and Joseph E. Talbot.

Cong. Aime J. Forand of Rhode Island is supporting the bill and it is believed his colleague from that state, John E. Fogarty, will shortly be listed in favor of it.

HOME-TOWN LEGION AIDS BLINDED VET

By DICK PEARCE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15—Veterans of the last war in Robert Wetzel's home town of McCloud took up the cause of the blinded young soldier today and demanded that the Army straighten out the mess it has made of his life.

Wetzel is the 20-year-old infantryman who gave his eyes for his country in Italy, then had to pay for his own glasses when he was discharged.

Don Higgins, American Legion service officer at McCloud, said the Legion is demanding that the Army send Bob his written discharge.

"Bob should never have been sent home without his written discharge—if he should have been sent home at this time at all," said Higgins.

"Nothing can be done for him until he gets the discharge. If he is not a veteran and he is not a soldier, we can't even take him into our Legion Post."

Charles Farrington, of the Veterans' Administration in San Francisco, added:

"If the boy had to receive medical attention on an emergency basis, he would not know whether to go to an Army hospital or a veteran's facility."

Wetzel's shrapnel pierced right eye is at the danger point where he might lose it altogether or regain partial vision, depending upon the care it receives.

Cheula Post No. 92 of the Legion at McCloud sent the full facts of young Wetzel's case to Farrington and asked immediate help.

Farrington also set out today to get action on five months' Army pay owed to young Wetzel. Washington medical officers, in trying to deny almost entirely the account of the callous treatment given young Wetzel, had even insisted that Wetzel already had received the pay.

Wetzel still had not received today the glasses for which he paid $8 of his own meager funds at McCloskey Hospital on Jan. 24—the day he was discharged.

These 8 N. E. Sailors Lucky to Be Alive

William V. Archambault of Moody ave., Methuen, Navy gunner's mate 3/c, grinned at the Naval Armed Guard Center in New Orleans and said:

"It must have been the luckiest torpedoing of the war."

There wasn't any logical reason why he or the rest of the Navy gun crew aboard an American merchant ship, seven other New Englanders included, should have been alive.

The vessel was loaded with inflammables but did not burn. Even some of the ammunition was bent and jammed but it did not explode. The men had to swim for it but they didn't drown. And the ship should have sunk but it limped to port safely.

Archambault, spokesman for the gun crew said the torpedoing occurred in the Caribbean some weeks ago. The New England bluejackets with him were:

William W. Connolly, 19, Williams st., Salem, signalman, third class; Steven Vaviliou, 19, Robinson st., Lynn, radioman third class; Robert S. Cook, 18, Adams st., Everett, seaman first class; Antone T. Soares, 20, Castle st., Plymouth, radioman third class; Norman W. Lamothe, 17, Mechanic st., Spencer, seaman third class; Carl N. Murray, 18, Bowdoin st., Worcester, seaman second class; and Lester E. Inniss, 21, Kennebunkport, Me., seaman first class.

The gun crew were battle stations, a regular early morning drill, when the Nazi submarine struck and a torpedo, ploughed into the merchant vessel's bow.

"It must have been the luckiest torpedoing of the war," Petty Officer Archambault related. "We were carrying an inflammable cargo, but it didn't burn."

"Our ammunition was bent U-shaped, and some of our machine-gun ammunition was crammed together until it looked like an accordion, but it didn't explode."

"The men on the bow gun were dunked clear under the surface when we were bumped. They just about had to swim out of their gun tub, but no one was hurt badly; just a few minor injuries."

"Finally they told us the ship would have sunk if we'd have been another 10 miles out. As it was, they pumped her out as soon as we docked, and she'll be ready to sail again as soon as the bow is repaired."

"I guess we can be thankful, too, that there was a patrol plane in the vicinity. Half a dozen others showed up in a short time and the sub was afraid to take another crack at us."

Senate Food Probers Seek High Cost Causes

By ERWIN D. SIAS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (INS)—The Senate Agriculture Committee disclosed today it will launch next week an investigation as to why civilian food costs are in many instances higher than they were in World War I.

Sen. Aiken (R.) of Vermont, said food processing, transportation, distribution, sales expenses and changing consumer eating habits will be "thoroughly probed."

It is expected the subcommittee on food, headed by Sen. "Cotton Ed" Smith (D.) of South Carolina, will also call up officials of the food distribution administration.

First item to come before the committee probably will be a report on food distribution prepared by the federal trade commission. Aiken charged the consumer has been penalized by the rationing program. Buyers, he said, are unable—due to lack of ration stamps—to purchase food in quantities and thereby effect savings.

Meanwhile, Sen. Shipstead (R.) of Minnesota, pointed out that consumer-meat prices are approximately 35 to 50 per cent higher than they were during the last war.

"And at the same time," Shipstead declared, "prices of hogs and cattle are from 30 to 50 per cent below the prices paid in 1917 and 1918."

"The ultimate objective of our hearings will be to draw the consumer and producer closer together," Aiken emphasized.

He said farmers see factory workers earning $75 a week and "think it is a lot of money." But what farmer fails to realize, Aiken pointed out, is the fact the city worker must spend a large portion of that money for expenses—that it is not all "cream."

400 HEAR MacDONALD CHARGES AIRED

Charges that Comr. of Public Works Herman A. MacDonald is a foe of civil service, a violator of his own department's rules and temperamentally unfit to hold his post were hurled today at a public hearing before the Governor's Executive Council.

More than 400 persons, 100 of whom had to stand, attended the session.

Lieut.-Gov. Cahill, presiding, gave the floor first to opponents of MacDonald's confirmation. The opposition was led by Daniel J. Lyne, Boston attorney, acting as counsel for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, AFL, Local 437.

"When employees of Comr. MacDonald sought proper classification in their jobs," Lyne asserted, "he referred to them as, 'ingrates and pickers.'"

"He is an opponent of the civil service system. He would substitute for it the old Van Buren system and its slogan, 'To the victor belong the spoils.'"

VET DISCRIMINATION

Lyne accused MacDonald of discrimination against a veteran of World War I, Raymond Bickford, an employee of the department for 20 years.

The attorney read from a copy of minutes of a meeting held by the special legislative commission of state employes' grievances and maintenance. He quoted MacDonald as saying, "Civil service is the greatest racket in the country."

Another spokesman for MacDonald's opponents was John Beads, president of the employes' union local. He said he had suggested to the commissioner appointment of a personnel officer might establish better relations with employes.

"He asked me," Beads said, "What are you trying to do, run the department? I got nowhere fast with him."

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15 (AP)—Charlie Chaplin faces arraignment Monday on indictments charging Mann act violation and conspiracy to deprive Joan Berry of her civil rights.

Chaplin and six others indicted with him on the conspiracy charge remain at liberty on their own recognizance after "booking" yesterday.

Others surrendering yesterday were Thomas Wells (Tim) Durant, at various times a film studio executive; Robert Arden, known also as Rudolph Kligler, Austrian-born radio commentator; Lieut. Claude Marple and Capt. W. W. White of the Beverly Hills police department.

Carr said he expected the other defendants, Police Judge Charles Griffin and Jessie Billie Reno, Beverly Hills police matron, to surrender today.

Jap Fliers' Morale Low, Says R. I. Ace

By JAMES J. STREIBIG

Associated Press Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Lieut.-Comdr. James E. Vose, who has dive-bombed Japs from Midway to Kavieng, believes our forces will simply have to "slug into" enemy strongholds such as that which surprised the marines at Tarawa.

More than a year and a half of combat has convinced the 31-year-old Manville, R. I. pilot that Japanese flier morale has cracked badly as a result of the "terrific losses" they have suffered in the air, but their factories at home are turning out better planes.

Vose said Tarawa was able to put up a strong defense because its installations had concrete walls 11 feet thick.

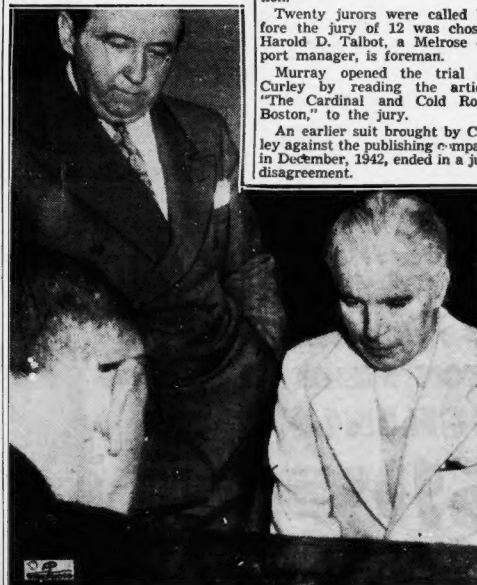

Two new enemy fighter planes have been encountered recently, Vose said, both using in-line engines and carrying 37 mm. cannon. This gun, as big as any mounted in our fighters, fires a shell an inch and a half in diameter. An improved Zero also has been met.

Vose said the Japs are putting armor on their fighters and beginning to install bullet-proof gasoline tanks, with the result that they are becoming more difficult to shoot down.

Discussing Japanese pilots, Vose said that they appeared to be of lower quality and less courage and were "in no way near as aggressive as they had been."

"They don't push home the attack," he said.

1st Inside Story: Visitor Tells of Gloom in Japan

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, Feb. 15 (AP)—Japanese students are digging slit trenches against air raids in all large cities, the rationing of food and wine has been tightened and arrests for

A. V. Ross D. Baccari J. Sullivan

"dangerous thoughts" are increasing in Japan, a Chinese graduate of the Imperial University of Tokyo said today on his arrival in Chungking.

The student named Yin Tso was sent to Tokyo by the puppet government of Manchuria. He graduated last summer, went to Peiping and thence escaped to Chungking.

He said the attitude of the Japanese people toward the war varied from high optimism during Axis successes to dark despondency over defeats. Japanese reverses in the Solomons hurt morale and the losses of Attu and Kiska in the Aleutians were exceptionally severe blows, he said.

During the last few months, the people have become increasingly gloomy.

Yin Tso said letters abroad were subjected to the strictest censorship and all mention of commodity shortages was deleted.

He said food rationing in Japan had become increasingly strict since Pearl Harbor and students and teachers received less than a quarter pound of rice a day. Bean curd, once plentiful, has been denied to students. Fish, one of the most common Japanese foods, now is available only twice a month and one small fish is divided among 15 families.

EAT WHALE MEAT

Because of the food shortage, Yin Tso said Japanese students were forced to conserve their energy. They take very little exercise and go to bed early in the hope that sleep will appease their hunger.

He said whale meat was popular in Tokyo and whale skin shoes were in demand because all leather goes to the army. Most Japanese, however, wear wooden clogs.

Socks are rationed to six pairs a year per person. One cake of soap must last three months. Kimonos have been shortened and now rarely cover the knees. Wine is limited by strict rationing and long queues are always seen outside shops having new supplies.

Metals were being collected everywhere. Window bars, iron gates, hardware and even nails from homes were being added to the scrap heap. Buddhists even surrendered their sacred bells and statues.

12 Bay Staters Win Air Honors

Twelve Massachusetts men of the China-Burma-India air service command under Brig-Gen. Robert C. Oliver, were promoted and awarded the good conduct medal, a dispatch from India revealed today.

Promoted to sergeant were: James J. Cadden, of Warren st., Arlington; Leonard A. Isaacson, of Eddy st., Waltham; and Swaney E. Banks, Jr., of Vost st., Malden.

Promoted to corporal were: Raymond L. Hill, of Adams st., Dorchester; and Olaf W. Johnson, Wintemney st., Natick.

Richard E. O'Flaherty, of Lindall st., Roslindale; and Arthur E. Johnson, of Kildredge and Newton, were advanced to private first class.

Good conduct medals were awarded to Staff Sgt. Frank J. Campillo, Jr., of Oakland st., Malden; Staff Sgt. Zigmarski, of Pittsfield; Staff Sgt. Charles P. McKenna, no address given; and Sgt. Leonard L. Tusk of Fall River.

The Air Force designate a flier who has shot down five or more enemy planes an ace.

During a recent combat patrol beyond our lines here Coregio shot six Japanese—corroborated by his commanding officer. He spotted a group of Japs comfortably bivouaced (one Jap was shaving), and killed five with an M-1 rifle, bayoneted a sixth. He rounded out the day by blowing up a machinegun nest with a hand grenade.

The patrol knocked off 25 Japs during the mission without losing a man.

Overcome by coal gas fumes which seeped into their bedroom three Roxbury children collapsed today as they prepared for school.

19 N. E. Solons Openly Favor Legion's Bill

By FRANK REILLY

Boston American Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15—Nineteen New Englanders—every member of the House from New England polled to date—were on record today as favoring prompt passage of the American Legion's omnibus bill for rehabilitation of veterans.

An informal poll conducted by the Legion reveals a total of 121 representatives in active support of the "Bill of Rights for G.I. Joe and G.I. Jane," but Legion officials urged relatives and friends of servicemen to continue their deluge of messages to Washington, demanding enactment of the measure.

"The poll is moderately encouraging so far, but we are still a long way from the 218 votes needed in the House for passage," said Francis M. Sullivan, Legion legislative director.

ENVIALE RECORD

Among the larger delegations in Congress, that from Massachusetts has established an enviable record, with 11 members actively working for passage of the bill, two barred by illness from active participation and one forced to take a leave of absence.

Those supporting the bill include Cong. John W. McCormack, House majority leader, and Cong. Joseph W. Martin, minority leader, together with Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers and her colleagues, James M. Curley, Thomas J. Lane, Philip J. Philbin, Christian A. Herter, Charles R. Clason, George J. Bates, Angier L. Goodwin and Richard B. Wigglesworth.

The Bay State representatives unable to take part in the drive are Allen Treadway, Ill.; Charles L. Gifford, victim of a recent street car accident, and Pehr Holmes, on leave in order to be with his ill mother.

N. H. JOIN'S UP

New Hampshire's two representatives, Charles Merrow and Foster T. Stearns, have promised their full support of the veterans' measure, as has Vermont's only member of the House, Charles A. Plimley.

Of the three Maine representatives, only Frank Fellows has been recorded to date but it is strongly expected that his associates, Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith and Robert Hale, will join with him.

Three Connecticut votes have already been promised, by William J. Miller, Renauff Compton and Joseph E. Talbot.

Cong. Alime J. Forand of Rhode Island is supporting the bill and it is believed his colleague from that state, John E. Fogarty, will shortly be listed in favor of it.

HOME-TOWN LEGION AIDS BLINDED VET

By DICK PEARCE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15—Veterans of the last war in Robert Wetzel's home town of McCloud took up the cause of the blinded young soldier today and demanded that the Army straighten out the mess it has made of his life.

Wetzel is the 20-year-old infantryman who gave his eyes for his country in Italy, then had to pay for his own glasses when he was discharged.

Don Higgins, American Legion service officer at McCloud, said the Legion is demanding that the Army send Bob his written discharge.

"Bob should never have been sent home without his written discharge—if he should have been sent home at this time at all," said Higgins.

"Nothing can be done for him until he gets the discharge. If he is not a veteran and he is not a soldier, we can't even take him into our Legion Post."

Charles Farrington, of the Veterans' Administration in San Francisco, added:

"If the boy had to receive medical attention on an emergency basis, he would not know whether to go to an Army hospital or a veteran's facility."

Wetzel's shrapnel pierced right eye is at the danger point where he might lose it altogether or regain partial vision, depending upon the care it receives.

Chula Post No. 92 of the Legion at McCloud sent the full facts of young Wetzel's case to Farrington and asked immediate help.

Farrington also set out today to get action on five months' Army pay owed to young Wetzel. Washington medical officers, in trying to deny almost entirely the account of the callous treatment given young Wetzel, had even insisted that Wetzel already had received the pay.

Wetzel still had not received today the glasses for which he paid $8 of his own meager funds at McCloskey Hospital on Jan. 24—the day he was discharged.

These 8 N. E. Sailors Lucky to Be Alive

William V. Archambault of Moody ave., Methuen, Navy gunner's mate 3/c, grinned at the Naval Armed Guard Center in New Orleans and said:

"It must have been the luckiest torpedoing of the war."

There wasn't any logical reason why he or the rest of the Navy gun crew aboard an American merchant ship, seven other New Englanders included, should have been alive.

The vessel was loaded with inflammables but did not burn. Even some of the ammunition was bent and jammed but it did not explode. The men had to swim for it but they didn't drown. And the ship should have sunk but it limped to port safely.

Archambault, spokesman for the gun crew said the torpedoing occurred in the Caribbean some weeks ago. The New England bluejackets with him were:

William W. Connolly, 19, Williams st., Salem, signalman, third class; Steven Vaviliou, 19, Robinson st., Lynn, radioman third class; Robert S. Cook, 18, Adams st., Everett, seaman first class; Antonio T. Soares, 20, Castle st., Plymouth, radioman third class; Norman W. Lamothe, 17, Mechanic st., Spencer, seaman third class; Carl N. Murray, 18, Bowdoin st., Worcester, seaman second class; and Lester E. Inniss, 21, Kennebunkport, Me., seaman first class.

The gun crew were battle stations, a regular early morning drill, when the Nazi submarine struck and a torpedo ploughed into the merchant vessel's bow.

"It must have been the luckiest torpedoing of the war," Petty Officer Archambault related. "We were carrying an inflammable cargo, but it didn't burn."

"Our ammunition was bent U-shaped, and some of our machine-gun ammunition was crammed together until it looked like an accordion, but it didn't explode."

"The men on the bow gun were dunked clear under the surface when we were bumped. They just about had to swim out of their gun tub, but no one was hurt badly; just a few minor injuries."

"Finally they told us the ship would have sunk if we'd have been another 10 miles out. As it was, they pumped her out as soon as we docked, and she'll be ready to sail again as soon as the bow is repaired."

"I guess we can be thankful, too, that there was a patrol plane in the vicinity. Half a dozen others showed up in a short time and the sub was afraid to take another crack at us."

Senate Food Probers Seek High Cost Causes

By ERWIN D. SIAS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (INS)—The Senate Agriculture Committee disclosed today it will launch next week an investigation as to why civilian food costs are in many instances higher than they were in World War I.

Sen. Aiken (R.) of Vermont, said food processing, transportation, distribution, sales expenses and changing consumer eating habits will be "thoroughly probed."

It is expected the subcommittee on food, headed by Sen. "Cotton Ed" Smith (D.) of South Carolina, will also call up officials of the food distribution administration.

First item to come before the committee probably will be a report on food distribution prepared by the federal trade commission. Aiken charged the consumer has been penalized by the rationing program. Buyers, he said, are unable—due to lack of ration stamps—to purchase food in quantities and thereby effect savings.

Meanwhile, Sen. Shipstead (R.) of Minnesota, pointed out that consumer meat prices are approximately 35 to 50 per cent higher than they were during the last war.

"And at the same time," Shipstead declared, "prices of hogs and cattle are from 30 to 50 per cent below the prices paid in 1917 and 1918."

"The ultimate objective of our hearings will be to draw the consumer and producer closer together," Aiken emphasized.

He said farmers see factory workers earning $75 a week and "think it is a lot of money." But what farmer fails to realize, Aiken pointed out, is the fact the city worker must spend a large portion of that money for expenses—that it is not all "cream."

JURY PICKED FOR CURLEY DAMAGE SUIT

Retrial of Cong. James M. Curley's suit against the Curtis Publishing Co., based on an article in the Saturday Evening Post of Oct. 4, 1941, opened in federal court today before Judge Charles E. Wyanski, Jr., and a jury.

Curley sat among the spectators with former State Sen. Joseph Langone of the North End and heard his counsel, Wendell Murray, term the article "false, wicked and defamatory libel."

Joseph A. Scolonetti is associate counsel with Murray, and John L. Hall and Charles P. Curtis, Jr., are counsel for the defendant corporation.

Twenty jurors were called before the jury of 12 was chosen. Harold D. Talbot, a Melrose export manager, is foreman.

Murray opened the trial for Curley by reading the article, "The Cardinal and Cold Roast Boston," to the jury.

An earlier suit brought by Curley against the publishing company in December, 1942, ended in a jury disagreement.

removed to Rome, and perhaps other safekeeping places.

The present building dates from the 15th Century. All but the walls of the monastery were destroyed by an earthquake in 1349. The bombing followed a warning, carried by bursting time-shells that scattered leaflets over the area yesterday, advising the monks and any Italian refugees there to leave. The leaflets read:

"Italian friends, beware! We have until now been especially careful to avoid shelling Mt. Cassino Monastery. The Germans know how to benefit from this. But now the fighting has swept closer and closer to its sacred precincts. The time has come when we must train our guns on the monastery itself.

"We give you warning so that you may save yourselves. We warn you urgently; leave the monastery. Leave it at once. Respect this warning. It is for your benefit."

The earth shook as giant bombs fell on the peak. From a hill just across the valley, one could see great balls of fire leap up from the hillside as the bombs tumbled.

HOW BOMBS FELL

It was impossible to tell whether the monks and refugees in the aged building had heeded the warning.

A gun crew on the hillside saw 36 planes wheel across the valley with white streaks of vapor in their wake.

The first string of bombs went into the area just west of the abbey, and smoke billowed up.

Then the wind carried the sound of an almost uninterrupted series of explosions across the valley. Soon smoke obscured the peak.

Bursts of fire streaked up the hill and two bombs of the first string apparently landed squarely on the roof. Another string brought another hit.

This was a task everyone at headquarters had tried to avoid—but among the gun crews in the valley, who had been under German observation from the abbey windows there were audible cries of relief when the bombs hit.

Intercepting 25 enemy fighters Feb. 12 on their way to attack a forward American base, Maj. Gen. L. Chennault's airmen shot down seven, probably destroyed seven and damaged one. Two Allied craft were lost, but their pilots saved. Three of six ships sunk and one of five damaged were accounted for by Americans and the Chinese-American wing off Fochow, China.

Bond Drive Spurs In Final Day Rush

As many Massachusetts cities and towns went over the top this morning in their War Bond quotas, Fourth War Loan drive officials were confident that a final day, "home stretch" spurt of buying will make the campaign a success.

The drive ends at midnight and by then the $800,000,000 mark may be in sight, declared the state chairman, F. W. Denio. The Bay State's over-all goal is $794,000,000, the largest amount ever sought in any kind of campaign for funds.

Denio tempered his confidence with the reminder that sales of bonds and stamps to individuals still lag with the drive only at the half-way mark in this division.

In eastern Massachusetts, seven towns were prompt to follow the lead of Quincy as the first city in the state to report reaching both the over-all and E bonds or individual sales quotas.

Towns reporting 100 per cent or better in both classes were Dover, Hingham, Milton, Needham, Walpole, Weston and Wilmingford.

Final returns from the 106 schools which took part in Boston's three-day "Junior Minute Man" drive last week showed that $725,000 in bonds were sold through the efforts of boy and girl salesmen.

Dorchester High for Girls and the Solomon Lewenberg and William Lloyd grade schools were winners in their respective classes.

Bricker Urges War Be Left to Soldiers

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN
(Special to The Boston Evening American)

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 15—Gov. John W. Bricker, of Ohio, told a press conference here that a change of Presidents not only would not impair the war effort, but would give it a tremendous lift.

"As a matter of fact," the Governor added, "the President is commander-in-chief in name only. By that I mean he is not actually the man who conducts the war."

"That is done by the professional soldiers. The less any President interferes with the military the better off he will be."

"There is no such thing as an 'instinctive' military leader, as Mr. Hitler has discovered in Russia."

Gov. Bricker spoke at a luncheon, held a reception and greeted many prominent Republican leaders.

In his address, the Governor attacked the New Deal philosophy and the huge bureaucracy it has created. He revealed that when OWI moved into Columbus, with a staff of 22, it demanded that all state civilian defense activities be turned over to OWI for censorship.

"The Governor refused," "I told them," said Gov. Bricker, "that we could take care of our own business without censorship assistance or advice from the OWI."

Gov. Bricker criticized appointments made by the President to federal courts, saying that too many of them had been appointed because of their subservience to the New Deal philosophy.

1,000 Eggs in Every Hen

If You Keep Chickens CUT THIS OUT

"The great trouble with the poultry business has always been that the laying life of the hen was too short," says Henry Trafford, nationally famous Poultry Expert, for nearly eighteen years Editor of "Poultry Success."

The average pullet may lay 150 eggs or more—in second year may lay 160. Then she goes to market. Yet it has been definitely established that every pullet hatched has from 1000 to 2000 or more minute egg germs in her system—and may be made to lay on a highly profitable basis for as long as five years—if given proper care.

How to work to get up towards 1000 eggs from hens; how to get pullets laying early; how to make old hens lay like pullets, greatly increase egg production; keep up heavy winter laying when eggs are scarce and prices highest; make sicklier hens healthy; these and many other money-making poultry secrets are contained in Mr. Trafford's 1000 EGG HEN SYSTEM of poultry raising, one copy of which will be sent free to any reader of this paper who keeps six hens or more. Eggs this year, will be in greater demand than ever—to take the place of rationed meat. Means big profit to the smart poultry keeper who can make birds produce. Mr. Trafford tells how. If you keep chickens and want them to lay with EXTRA EGGS, cut out this notice and mail with name and address to PENN POLTRY SERVICE, Suite 216-B, 133 No. 15th St., Philadelphia-2, Pa., and free copy of "THE 1000 EGG HEN" will be sent by return mail.

THEY HAVEN'T QUIT YET...HAVE YOU?

Hitler and Hirohito haven't quit yet . . . not by a long shot. Why should they?

They know that a few battles lost . . . a half dozen retreats . . . don't mean defeat. They have no more conceded this war than we conceded it after Pearl Harbor or Bataan or Corregidor!

That's why this is no time for us to sit back and take it easy. Just because we seem to be winning is no reason for you to say: "The war's nearly over—and, anyway, I can't afford to buy an extra War Bond."

This War is a long way from over

And can you really mean you "can't afford" to buy an extra War Bond? You ate last night, didn't you? And slept in a warm dry bed? And you've got two whole legs to take you to your job . . . and two strong arms swinging at your sides!

Are you sure you're investing all you can in Bonds? Chances are you're making more money today than you ever did. What's more, goods are scarcer, harder to buy.

So, sit down now and figure it out. Check the things you and your family must have. Necessities! Subtract that sum from your earnings . . . and you'll find that you can afford an extra $100 War Bond this month. Maybe you can even boost it to an extra $200 or $300 over your regular pay-roll buying.

So get busy and buy that extra War Bond! The only thing you "can't afford" to do is to quit now!

An Important Victory

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT opened a recent press conference in Washington by saying that the most important news in the papers was the capture of the Huon peninsula in New Guinea and the elimination of some 14,000 Japs by the combined American and Australian armies.

Both of these armies were under the command of General Douglas MacArthur.

The day on which the President spoke was a day when there was both major and ominous news from Italy. There had been heavy aerial attacks against Western Germany. There were reports of new Russian advances.

So the news from New Guinea had arrived in important company.

But President Roosevelt was absolutely RIGHT.

The complete occupation of the Huon peninsula WAS the most important and significant news of the day.

It is good to have President Roosevelt aware of this important victory in the Pacific war, and to have him emphasize it.

The President has not always shown an awareness of the importance of events in the Pacific war, and has not always emphasized them.

The President has hitherto shown a persistent and almost exclusive interest in the European war.

He has caused a concentration of American forces and effort in the European war, to the disadvantage and impairment and neglect of our inadequate and harassed forces in the Pacific war—particularly of the woefully and dangerously insufficient and ill-equipped and poorly supplied forces of General MacArthur.

Even now, in fact, the President seems reluctant to emphasize the conditions under which General MacArthur has accomplished his vital victory.

He says there was a tough job in a tough country.

What he should have said, because he knows it very well, is that General MacArthur has never had sufficient men, munitions and supplies or adequate planes, ships and guns for his tough job in a tough country and HE STILL DOES NOT HAVE THEM.

IF THE Pacific war is the most important phase of the conflict in which America is involved, and the news from it outweighs the major and even ominous events occurring simultaneously in other phases of the conflict, why are we not conducting the Pacific war ACCORDING TO THAT FACT?

The military operations being conducted by General MacArthur are the most important in this war.

General MacArthur has demonstrated that he is the most competent, resourceful and successful military commander in this war. Obviously, he could achieve greater victories, and achieve them more quickly and at a smaller price, if he should be ADEQUATELY supplied.

Why do we not supply him according to his urgent needs, and according to his genius for utilizing and conserving military equipment and personnel, and according to the vital stake we have in the WINNING of the Pacific war?

So supplied in the past, General MacArthur would be much farther along the road to the Philippines and Tokyo than the northeastern coast of New Guinea.

So supplied NOW, he would be enabled to proceed along that beckoning road.

Since President Roosevelt now recognizes and acclaims the importance of General MacArthur's operations and victories, let him provide the weapons for the further and final victories which the American people demand in the Pacific war and which General MacArthur is so well qualified and indeed BEST qualified to bring about.

We Must Help the Veterans

THE WAR VETERANS' welfare should be the first concern of the approaching special session of the Massachusetts Legislature.

Thousands of men have already been discharged from the armed forces.

Thousands more will come home before the war ends.

Now is the time to think of them and to legislate for them.

It is generally hoped that Governor Saltonstall will stress this fact in his message and let the nation know that Massachusetts, traditionally a good friend to the soldier, has no intention of following the bad example of the Congress in Washington which brushed off the discharged and disabled servicemen with a niggardly mustering-out pay act that has been accurately described as an "insult" and a "sop."

One of the many things the Legislature can do for the veterans is prompt acceptance of a bill filed by Rep. David M. Cleary of Charlestown.

Aware of the importance of the former soldier's service records and discharged certificate, Representative Cleary wants all city and town clerks to be required to file and preserve copies of these papers.

The purpose is to provide a safe, permanent and easily obtainable history of each veteran's participation in World War II and to prevent a repetition of the chaos and confusion which caused thousands of men to lose benefits and to suffer needlessly after World War I.

Obviously action on such a wise and necessary change in the laws cannot be delayed or postponed.

What I fancy I approve,
No dislike there is to love
Be my loved one short or tall
And distorted thereunto:
Be her forehead and her eyes
Full of incongruities;
Hath she thin hair, hath she none,
She's to me a paragon.
—ROBERT HERRICK.

WAS IT Tennyson or Shakespeare who said: "Love seeth with the mind, therefore, winged Cupid is painted blind"? Anyway, all experts are agreed that a woman does not have to be a raving beauty to inspire great love in a good man. Some of the most loved women in this country are much too plump, too tall or too short to win any beauty contests, but they have that certain something it takes to make a man happy and content . . . The country's most interesting annual gambling event is the pool on the exact time the ice will break on the Tanana river, Alaska. Is open only to Alaskans, but, of course, the boys in the armed forces up that way are eligible to buy tickets. Price of a ticket is one dollar. Half of the total pool goes to person making the nearest guess and the other half to one making next best guess. In 1943, the pool amounted to $100,000. The ice broke on April 22d at 7:22 p. m. There is a cloud in the silver lining for the winners of this pool. Out of their $50,000 they have to pay an income tax. I haven't the exact figures, but I think after the tax bite a winner has about $22,000 left. I can't buy a ticket, but I will guess that this year the ice on the Tanana river will break on April 24th at 6:30 p. m. What do you say?

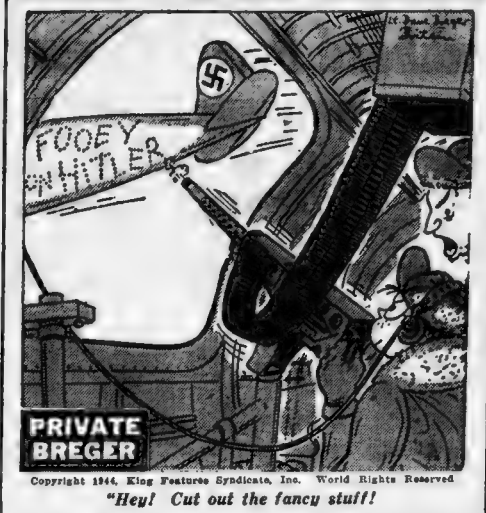

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Must add that ditty "Between 18th and 19th on Chestnut Street" to my collection of records. Understand Bing Crosby and Connee Boswell made a record of this. That should be good . . . A shaving expert says those using double edge safety razor blades should unscrew their razor handle about one sixteenth of an inch after the first time over. Then the second time over will give a complete and marvelous shave . . . Have just heard of a winter visitor to Florida who was able to hire an automobile for $50 a week and included in that price is being furnished each week with enough gasoline to travel 280 miles during that period . . . Q—How about a poem for a girl named Nellie? A—Don't know of any but there are a couple of songs: "The Bird on Nellie's Hat" and "Wait Till the Sun Shines, Nellie." Q—In that card game in Bret Harte's poem about "The Heathen Chinee Whose Smile Was Childlike and Bland", what game was played? The colonel says poker. The captain also, but the second lieutenant says it was euchre. We have no reference library in this area. Who is right? A—The second lieutenant wins. It was euchre. That was once a very popular game. What happened to it? . . . Q—Who do you name as the greatest American actor of the twentieth century? A—Jack Barrymore would be my choice. After him, Arnold Daly . . . Q—You say there has been no running horse racing at night in this country for 40 years? How about the races at Longacres near Seattle, Wash.? A—That's twilight racing at Longacres. Night racing is under lights for the entire program and starts around 8:30 p. m. I think the last night running horse racing was at Electric Light Park, St. Louis, but don't know what year it was.

My Day By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Monday, Feb. 14.—To my readers who live in New York city, and incidentally to those who live in other cities where a like situation may exist, I should like to suggest that anyone who has a spare room in his house keep in touch with the officers' service committee. In New York city, the office is in the Hotel Commodore, and there is a housing desk run by the committee, where rooms and apartments are procured for officers and their families. It is difficult for a woman to arrive in a big city, expecting to meet her husband, sometimes with a child or two, only to find that he has not yet arrived or that he has already sailed away.

OF COURSE, THERE ARE many other things that are done for the officers. They can procure lists of places of entertainment and theater tickets at half price. They can get information on many subjects and I am sure arrangements can be made for any particular thing they wish to do.

This housing service, however, has especially appealed to me. In New York city it is headed by Mrs. Herbert Carlebach, and I hear that her difficulties are very great.

This is Negro history week, from Feb. 13 to Feb. 20 inclusive. In Chicago Negro history is being taught in the schools. It seems to me that this might well be done in some of our other big cities.

ON SATURDAY I WENT with the President to pay homage at the Lincoln Memorial, and we were reminded that this is the 11th year that the President has attended the ceremonies.

In the afternoon I went to the Navy Yard with my husband. He spoke over the radio at the ceremonies attending the turning over of an American destroyer escort to the French.

Hollywood By Louella O. Parsons

NEW YORK, Feb. 15—Here is a highly interesting bit of news about my old friend Louis Bromfield, and Thomas Mann. These two authors—and may I say great authors—are collaborating with Maximilian Ilyin on a movie script titled, "The Woman of the 100 Faces."

Ilyin has Bromfield and Mann each telling his own story about the same woman, a famous character whose identity they don't reveal until the story is written.

The idea springs from an incident in Paris when two painters drew their individual impressions of the same woman. Incidentally, this marks the first time Thomas Mann has written for the films. It is certainly an original idea. The Bromfield-Mann versions, of course, will be in separate episodes.

HUNT STROMBERG has sent the script of "Guest in the House" to Philip Dorn. Hunt wanted him for the role of the husband-painter whose marriage is almost broken up by the vixenish Anne Baxter, who creates so much havoc when she comes avisting. Dorn is very anxious to do the part—but the final decision rests with M-G-M who may have other plans for him. This young actor started out like a house afire in Hollywood in "Escape" with Norma Shearer. What happened that he seemed to drop out of the limelight?

I HAVE JUST heard through the old reliable grapevine that Joan Fontaine will have to go to the desert for at least two months and stop all activities—work, war and movies. She worked so many months on "Frenchman's Creek" she was almost exhausted. Instead of taking the rest she needed she came East and worked as a nurse's aide in the maternity and psychiatry wards in Connecticut hospitals. It was all too much—and now she must rest. She has been here at Roosevelt Hospital.

I AM HAPPY for Sam Goldwyn that on all sides there are so many compliments on Danny Yaye's picture, "Up in Arms." Sam has made a delightful comedy and I am glad he has, for there is no one who works harder than he and he deserves the praise coming his way. F. S. Sam, here's one you didn't ask for, but you and I have made a vow that 1944 is going to be without a single Parsons-Goldwyn battle. I wonder!

SNAPSHOTS OF NEW YORK AND HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Ann Sheridan

Anne Baxter

Broadway By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Feb. 15—Tallulah Bankhead's penchant for calling everyone she meets "darling" is widely known, and Phyllis Brooks invariably addresses folks she's fond of as "cookie," but it's hard-boiled he-man Humphrey Bogart who greets acquaintances of both sexes with a hearty "hiya, haybee!" . . . One of the gentler husbandly gestures is Richard Halliday's habit of solicitously stroking Mary Martin's upswep hairdo, to which wayward wisps of her hair back into place . . . Cesar Romero, now in the U. S. Navy, puts as much energy into chewing a stick of gum as he does into whirling around in his beloved rhumba.

PFC. EDMUND O'BRIEN dutifully put on 15 pounds because Moss Hart wanted him on the hefty side for his role of a Brooklyn recruit in "Winged Victory"—which may explain to Producer Joe Pasternak why O'Brien looked so dumfounded when the film biggie came backstage to say, "Eddie, you'll be terrific in that part when they make the picture—but you've simply got to take off some weight."

XAVIER CUGAT and his vocalist, Lina Romay, are a committee of two in charge of confusion when they happen to be sitting at the same table with mutual friends and suddenly start speaking Spanish to each other at breakneck speed. It's just because they want to discuss some business detail and feel it would be impolite to bore the others by talking about it in understandable Americanese . . . Now that Dinah Shore is married to George Montgomery, who used to be engaged to Hedy Lamarr, it seems like a small world indeed when you reflect that less than two years ago a movie monthly interviewer, exploring the subject of Dinah's chances for success on the screen, quoted the songbird as saying, "Of course, I'll never give Hedy Lamarr any competition . . ."

Listen, World! By Elsie Robinson

YOU CAN'T LABEL PEOPLE as you would vegetables or hardware. And you're only wishing grief on yourself if you decide that people are this or that and then expect them to act accordingly. People are never so simple.

People aren't bad OR good. They are bad AND good at the same time. People aren't wise OR foolish, kind OR cruel, honest OR dishonest, brave OR timid, nice OR nasty. They are ALL these things withing the same nature at the same moment. And wearing a shamrock ring on the proper finger patterned after one Steve Hannagan wears. Yep, he gave it to her. It may be wedding bells for Morton Downey and Mary Landa soon. If Morton can take off 20 more pounds there's a part for him in "Week-end at the Waldorf" at M-G-M; Lela Rogers, orchid in her hair, with Red Keadler as Charlie Taylor's Tallulah Bankhead is entertaining her Aunt Mary about whom she told me so much. They did a round of the night clubs together—just the two of them, and Aunt Mary had the time of her life; Arthur Koestler, author of "Arrival and Departure," has been signed by Paul Sosen, the British producer, to do the adaptation for "Fame is the Spur," Howard Spring's new book.

REPORTS ARE hot that the Air Corps will take over the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles; Walter Pidgeon will probably get the Richard Harding Davis role at Metro; Alan Hale's pretty 20-year-old daughter, Karen, makes her movie debut in "Valencia" Jones' at Warners; hear that M-G-M will let Warners borrow Hedy Lamarr for "The Conspirators" if they can have Errol Flynn in exchange; Cole Porter is due in Hollywood the end of February to huddle on "Night and Day" with Hal Wallis; Betty Hutton lost 15 pounds during her recent illness.

JOYCE BERLE MATTHEWS and her chum, Barbara Bender, never get together for tea or cocktails the way some friends do; whenever they have a twilight date it's to gorge on chopped chicken livers, which they both adore with the most unbridled passion . . . Valentina, the deejay singer, who once coldly dismissed mink with the comment "mink is for football" must keep some equally caustic and amusing reflection unspoken by sheer force of will power when one of her best known customers, Gloria Grahame, shows up at the shop bundled into the rather worn and shaggy-looking beaver coat in which she spends her winters.

The reason is obvious. We haven't come very far from the jungle yet, we humans. There's mighty little difference between the feelings of a baby and a baby gorilla. They're both timid and greedy, both selfish and ruthless in getting their own way. And all through life that brute nature persists.

THAT STRUGGLE constantly confuses you and upsets your plans. You try to escape from it by tying tickets to things. Saying that This Thing is Good, and That Thing is Bad. But it can't be done! For nothing is entirely right—not entirely wrong.

The most gracious act may root in the most cursed motive—and the most deplorable mess may have sprung from a noble urge. You recognize this fact easily enough in your own life, yet can never get to it in the Other Fellow's. Even if you don't, or can't, run true to form you think he should, and you grow resentful when he acts.

MOST OF YOUR misery comes from this attempt to fit people and life to your own fantastic pattern, instead of taking them as they are. Out of it springs all your loneliness and bitterness. People don't really fail you. They fail your notion of them—which is quite a different matter. You wouldn't be so mad at everyone and everything if you knew that the Other Fellow was as muddled as you are yourself—as unable to understand or control his acts. If you can get along with yourself, you can get along with anyone. Quit labeling people and getting sore because they don't fit your labels.

"Come, come. I thought we were going to take a day off and see the town."

Star Shine By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 15—Regardless of what you may have heard or read about a movie, you haven't read anything until you look at the comments of the small town exhibitors in the Motion Picture Herald. You can never really judge what they're going to say.

Here, for example, are some comments on pictures that are listed on the Academy nominations for awards.

Exhibitor F.R. Crist of Loveland, O., has this to say about "Holy Matrimony," which is a leading candidate for the best screen play, "If Monty Woolley ever makes a dime for me, I'll divide it with him."

Concerning "Watch on the Rhine," which won the New York Critics' Award for the best film and is a leading contender in the Academy sweepstakes, Exhibitor Jim Haney of Milan, Ind., says: "A very fine picture but the crowds stayed away. Bette Davis is not for the small town. Could have done three times more business with a Western" . . . A cliché of the picture business used to be that the movies were made for the small towns and not for Broadway, but fortunately that view point has changed somewhat.

Exhibitor Crist writing about "His Butler's Sister" says: "Healed the jaws. A good small town picture. The only thing they don't like is Deanna's singing" . . . See, you never know what those exhibitors are going to say. Now they don't want Deanna Durbin, the singer, to sing in her pictures.

THE EXHIBITORS can't even agree among themselves about pictures.

Exhibitor A. E. Hancock of Columbia City, Ind., has this to say about "Gir Crazy": "Mickey Rooney has the same old bag of tricks and the public is getting bored with them."

Yet Exhibitor Crist says: "A typical Rooney picture. Rooney is always good here. Plenty of laughs."

Then there is "Behind the Rising Sun," and the remark of Exhibitor Harland Rankin of Tilbury, Ont., who says: "This picture proved to be a big surprise; we did extra well with it. In Chatham, where I live, it didn't click, but in the small town it was a natural."

While Exhibitor B. R. Johnson of Nipawin, Sask., says: "Good enough picture which did miserable business. The trailer, containing shots of the few brutal episodes, frightened away most of the regular patrons. This I know for a fact. The few who ventured out remarked that it was not nearly so bad as the trailer indicated. My advice is to miss out on the trailer if you can't ditch the feature."

Concerning "Pilot No. 5," Exhibitor F. A. Falle of Jarvis, Ont., writes: "Only an 80-minute picture and it was 80 minutes of baloney. A very small crowd and no one seemed satisfied. Pictures of war and self-sacrifice are hard to take, especially during war."

Yet Exhibitor J. L. Cooper of Antlers, Okla., has this to say about it: "Here is a picture that will hold anyone in his seat. Very interesting story enjoyed by all who came." You try to figure them out.

IT IS very seldom that an exhibitor rushes to the defense of an actor because she is in a bad picture, usually they blame the performer. But Exhibitor Hancock in writing about "Government Girl" is disturbed about what they did to Olivia de Havilland: "They maltreated a swell little actress in this one. Give direction and script, Miss De Havilland will give a picture all she has but this had neither."

Exhibitor Johnston has this to say about "Best Foot Forward": "Just a fair offering . . . These 'hot' music pictures are keeping the people away in droves."

BLIZZARDS MEAN NOTHING TO BABIES

If, in normal weather, your Hood Route Salesman's wartime job seems tough (the manpower shortage has given him more homes to visit, a bigger load to carry), imagine what he's up against when a first-class blizzard strikes.

During a heavy snowfall this Winter, one of our Route Salesmen completed his deliveries by the simple means of attaching a horse to the front of his truck. Whenever the truck floundered helplessly in drifts, the horse pulled it out again. Still another ingenious Route Man carried a sled in his delivery wagon—and used it to transport the milk from the well-plowed main roads over the snow-clogged private lanes on which his customers lived.

It's not easy to get the milk through under such circumstances—but the Hood Route Salesman always does. You and I can show him our appreciation by making the most of the good, fresh, rich milk he brings us—using every drop with wisdom, so that none shall be wasted at a time when milk's nutritive value counts more than ever.

CANINE EPIC FOR LOEW'S

Dame May Whitty and Ben Webster finally have played the scene they rehearsed for 50 years. In Eric Knight's "Lassie Come Home," the MGM Technicolor picture opening Thursday on Loew's State and Orpheum screens, these distinguished stage and screen performers, play screen husband and wife. Just before they were cast for the parts they celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary. They appeared in America with Ellen Terry and Henry Irving's repertory company in 15 plays, mostly Shakespeares, after distinguishing themselves on the English and Scottish stage. So, too, have Edmund Gwenn, Donald Crisp, Elsa Lanchester and Nigel Bruce, who appear in the film.

24 Cherry Dishes Whole Family Sure to Enjoy

By MARTHA LEE

IT'S NATIONAL CHERRY WEEK again—from Feb. 15 to Washington's Birthday—the 22.

Since cherries are such a favorite with American cooks in pies, tarts, cakes, puddings, custards and salads, it is unfortunate that they are not so plentiful as in pre-war days. Canned cherries have not been available in some markets for months—but most of the better retail food shops do carry the frozen cherries. One reason for the shortage of canned cherries this year and last is that the government has taken over a large percentage of the pack, leaving only a small portion available for consumer use.

Here are some recipes that are excellent for wartime recipes be-

deg. for 14 to 20 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

COBBLER FILLING

1 cup red tart pitted cherries
2 cups apples (any cooking apples, sliced as for pie)
1 cup sugar 3 tsp. flour
Combine sugar and flour, then mix well with the cherries and apples.

A cupful of juice from a can of cherries can be used to make this Cherry Foam Sauce that has a special captivating flavor and one that your family will love.

CHERRY FOAM SAUCE

1 cup tart red cherry juice
1 cup sugar 2 egg whites
1/2 tsp. almond flavoring
Few drops red vegetable coloring Combine juice and sugar. Cook to a thick syrup or to 230 deg. F.
Pour gently over stiffly beaten egg whites—add flavoring, then the coloring to make a desired shade. Serve hot or cold as a sauce or topping on any plain cake, such as white, yellow, sponge or angel food. Makes 8 generous servings.

CHERRY COTTAGE PUDDING

1/4 cup shortening 1 cup sugar
1 egg 1/2 tsp. lemon extract
1 1/2 cups flour 1/2 tsp. salt
2 1/2 tsp. baking powder
2-3 cup milk

Thoroughly cream shortening and sugar; add egg and lemon extract; beat thoroughly. Add flour, sifted with salt and baking powder, alternately with milk, beat well after each addition. Bake in greased eight-inch square pan in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 30 to 45 minutes. Serve warm with sweetened canned cherries. Makes six servings.

Beauty

Filmy Cream for Glamour

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

REMEMBER, HOW, as a child you would puzzle out an acrostic? Fun, wasn't it? Well, here is a new one... invented for the glamour-conscious gal to figure out... and remember.

Vision, if you will, four pictures... depicting the snow... a kitten... the ivory of an elephant's tusks... and the beautiful narcissus. Take the first letter of these four words... and what do they spell? Naturally, the answer is S-K-I-N... to this little brain-teaser.

Skin... something which every woman cherishes... and something that is... or should be ... as white as snow... as soft as a kitten... as smooth as ivory... and as fragrant as a narcissus.

It's YOUR skin if you do the right things... if you cleanse... if you lubricate... if you go nature one better. This "simple life of beauty care... followed in front of your own dressing table mirror... but daily... can work magic on your skin at home

Don't try to imitate a man... and think you can get the same results from your beauty treatments... that he gets when he shaves standing up. He may be able to sing while he takes a shower... and even part his hair as he jostles back and forth in a pullman... but you, my feminine friend... should and must sit comfortably... to get results in personal appearance.

Touching up... or adorning your skin... is naturally more fun than cleansing it... and here is a preparation which will tickle your vanity to use... since it will afford you ample opportunity for self-expression... to give vent to your artistic talent in preparing your face.

No gal can start the day without a foundation to give her complexion that flawless look. There are many foundations, but this one
... a filmy cream... is one used by the Powers' models and countless "debs" for day-long, ivory smooth facial appearance.

USE ONLY A LITTLE

And it may well be yours. A subtly creamy film, it comes in light, medium or dark shades to blend with your own particular coloring. Just a little of it...
smoothed on with the fingertips...
gives your skin a look of perfection... that will amaze you and your friends. Then, too, it is so compounded that it will keep your powder from vanishing.

Morning, or night... whenever you are ready for the many important moments on your calendar...
you should use this famous foundation for that S-K-I-N smooth ranch.

For the name of this "does things to your skin" foundation, phone the Beauty Dept., LiBERTY 4000, except the week-end, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Period Three coupons. Period Four coupons now valid through Sept.
30. Class 4 coupons worth 10 gallons, Class 5 worth 50 gallons.

THE CARE, HOWEVER SIMPLE... a gal gives her skin today... shows unmistakably tomorrow. Keep it clean... smooth... and radiant... if next summer... you expect to be a bathing beauty
... comparable to the facial captivation of Paramount Star Gail Russell. But, for the going out hours of play... remember to use a filmy cream foundation... like the cover girls use... for that illusion of a flawless complexion.

Short Pajamas

Sure to Win Approval

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THOSE short, short sleeping pajamas I have been telling you folks about have now moved into big time. They get there because Main-bocher, our great American designer, has turned his hand to designing them. He designed the first model for the stage, and they are worn by Ruth Gordon
in her Broadway hit.

Mainbocher makes these briefest of sleeping garments out of very soft green lace.
The shorts-length trousers are veiled with green chiffon, and the sports-shirt type of top is set over a halter foundation of green. It would be hard to find anything more delightful than this kind of thing for a girl to wear and certainly it is going to have a lot of admirers.

26 Fulton Plans to Join Dadds, Hulse in Mile

By HUCK FINNEGAN

JOHNNY FULTON wasn't voted the outstanding athlete in the BAA games as he was at Millrose. That was because Gil Dadds ran the fastest mile (4:09.5) in Boston's indoor history. But the 145-pound Stanford junior (on leave), certainly captured the public's fancy as he fended off bid after bid by intercollegiate champion Joe Nowicki to win the Lapham 1000.

The kid is full of running, full of fight. His 2:12.8 effort was the third fastest 1000 in 55 BAA meets, and little Johnny thinks it could have been the fastest "if they had announced the time at the 880 mark. I didn't know I was so close to the record. I could have poured on something extra."

He did a bang-up job as it was for a Johnny Fulton short-distance man. He is the Coast 440-yard champ, holds world 600 and 660-yard marks. He won a slashing 600 at Millrose. Why then did he go up to 1000 here? Wasn't he risking his reputation?

"I'm going to run the Halpin 880 at the New York AC meet Saturday," he replied, "so I needed the longer work. You see my ambition is to join Dadds and Hulse in the mile field before the winter is out, and I'm working up to the distance gradually."

"I understand the IC 4-A plans to stage an invitation mile, and I'd like to race Dadds and Hulse there. I used to run the mile in high school but Stanford thought I lacked stamina for the distance. So I kept running 440's (48.1, 48.2) and an occasional 880 (1:53.9). I haven't matured fully yet (he's 21) but I believe I'm a lot stronger than a year ago. I'd like to find out, and the only way I can is to meet the best at the distance."

Like to Push Dadds

"AFTER ALL," the youngster continued, "There's only one indoor race. That's the mile. And I want to be in on the fun. Another reason: I'm convinced Hulse won't best Dadds indoors, won't press Gil to the record he has at his finger tips. I'd like to be the man to push him to that record."

A most generous gesture from the youngster was so badly crippled in an automobile accident as a child that doctors despaired of his life. He still bears facial scars of that near tragedy, and his left arm never did develop normally so that he is 4-F in selective service.

BILL HULSE doesn't agree with Fulton and the rest who forecast a Dadds' victory parade in the mile. "I'll lick him before the season is over," vowed the 23-year-old chemist, who last summer ran a 4:06 mile against Hagg and Dadds in Cleveland. Glance at Hulse's schedule and you'll marvel how the fellow is able to do as well as he does.

He won a 48-hour week in the laboratories of the U. S. Rubber Co. at Passaic, N. J. Mondays he does cross-country through a Passaic Park. Tuesdays he rides an hour and a half into New York to train on Columbia's boards. Thursdays he practices on a 28-lap track at the Passaic "Y." No coach to supervise his training.

Nothing Wrong in N. Y.

"I'VE READ where I never will be an indoor runner," Hulse reflected, "that I can't adapt my long stride to the banks. Don't believe that. There was nothing wrong with me at Millrose. I could have beaten Dadds that night if I had made by bid at the right time."

"I knew I wasn't right for the Hunter Mile. I had been experimenting with poisonous chemicals all week, and they're not as nice to breathe as fresh air. I was sick to my stomach before the race, so did the only thing I could do. Tried to slow down the pace, keep Dadds back and beat him in the sprint to the tape. He didn't fall for it, and when he let loose with that 58 second quarter, blast I knew I was a dead duck."

"Perhaps I do run better outdoors," he smiled. "If I do it's because the days are longer and there's more opportunity to train. And it's much healthier running outdoors than it is in a Garden filled with smoke and dust. I can't breathe normally during an indoor race. I cough all night long after I do run. That's what's been beating me more than Dadds himself or the corners. But the season is young yet. Don't quit on me."

Teen-Agers Will Serve Purpose, Says Dazzy Vance

HOMOSASSA SPRINGS, Fla., Feb. 15 (AP)—If the baseball player shortage gets any worse, the big leagues may have to start grabbing 15 and 16-year-old hopefuls from the sandlots, says Arthur C. "Dazzy" Vance, one-time speed ball king of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The old dazzler isn't worried about the brand of ball they'll play if it gets down to them.

TAKES LIFE EASY

"It'll still be baseball," he declared as he relaxed in this isolated little fishing resort deep in the wilds of the Gulf hammocks.

Dazzy, who will be 51 years old March 4, has been out of the game a long time and hasn't any starry-eyed hopes that the oldsters can pitch in and help out during the emergency.

"I realized after I had been out of baseball a couple of years that you can't come back after a lay-off," the former hurler said. "When you get as old as me, playing is just a memory. But you don't have to be this old to know you can't play."

OLD-TIMERS OUT

Vance believes the clubs neither need nor want the old-timers, and he's sure the older men don't want to try for comebacks.

"It's just like talk about the spitball returning," he declared.

"It would be all right for some of the young kids to throw it, but it would ruin some promising arms. Baseball ought to forget about the old fellows and let the kids play the game."

Dazzy got his start as a youngster with Red Cloud in the Nebraska State League. He went on to become the strike out king of baseball, winning 23 games for Brooklyn in 1924.

Scrappy Mat Card On Tap at Arena

Jack Clayburne hopes to polish off George Linehan, Wayland police officer, in quick order in the main bout of the wrestling show at the Arena tomorrow night.

In the semi-final, Sandor Szabo will be seeking his second local victory against Jack Reeder. Tomorrow, while in the weekly special, Ed "Strangler" White will tackle Leo Numa. The opener will pit Rebel Bob Russell against Frank Judson.

Dazzling Ice Follies in Gala Opening Here

A dazzling ice revue whirls into the Boston Garden tonight with the opening of the eighth edition of the Ice Follies which runs through Feb. 28. All the brilliant color and skating artistry that have made this show the greatest in the world have been retained under the brilliant direction of Roy and Eddie Shipstad and Oscar Johnson, with brand new routines and costumes for the cast of 130.

There are 33 featured performers including many Boston favorites, the Shipstads and Johnson, Betty Atkinson, Heinie Brock, Frick and Frack, Norah McCarthy and Mike Kirby, Idi Papez and Karl Zwack, Frances Claudet and Osborne Colson, and others.

Hazel Franklin, sensational English miss; Bobby Blake, Irish dancer; The Miltons, a new dance and comedy pair; Mary Robinette, premiere skating danseuse; Dick Rasmussen, youthful comedian; the skating Roberts, and others new to the Follies are expected to thrill the fans.

The first matinee staged by the Follies, on Saturday, is for the aid of the Boston American Daily Record-Sunday Advertiser fund for hospitalized veterans and while tickets for this performance have been selling briskly, there still are plenty of good seats on sale at the Garden.

The Follies include Saturday and Sunday matinees, and the Shipstads and Johnson are out to add to the high achievements already scored in the 1943-44 season. More than a million persons have viewed the 1944 Follies since the show left California and the Follies cast is hoping to smash all previous records during the Hub stand.

The Ice Follies are one of the very few productions which veteran showmen say "can't be described without a bookful of superlatives." Boston folk are expected to echo this phrase during the Garden stay of "The Greatest Show on Ice."

PAUL ANDERSON, lf DOM BRIGHT, c
Roslindale Pair Warm Up for Opener Today

Hub High Schools Open Hoop Season

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Dormant for the past three decades in the Boston school ranks, basketball returned to the Joe McKenney district league today in a smashing new debut of four games to be played in high school gyms in as many sections of the city.

It'll be a case of informal basketball being played on a formal schedule for the remainder of an abbreviated schedule but, at least, it will be the spearhead for full scale activity in the future.

This opening program pitted Jamaica Plain against Brighton; Roslindale against Charlestown; East Boston against Hyde Park and Brandeis Vocational against South Boston, all to be played on the latter's courts. A poll of all schools revealed that the boys were enthusiastic if not talented; the coaches anxious if not optimistic; the games were to be played even if not too well.

EXPECTS FAIR BREAK

The keynote of it all was probably voiced by Coach John Fuller of Brighton High in his statement "this year will be no criterion of Boston schoolboy basketball." Coach Fuller expects but a fair break in victories over the course of the campaign but he'll have laid the foundation for some winning teams in years to come. Beyond that, the Brighton mentor has little to offer on his own squad.

A survey of the remaining district schools follows:

JAMAICA PLAIN, Coach Fred Swan—They're digging for a pair of size 14 sneakers for Pete Young, a 6 foot, 7-inch candidate. And who can top him? The emphasis is on speed, fast cuts. Offense fairly good but the boys need work on defense. Probable starting line-up: Bill Craven, Al Sweeney, forwards; Bill Latham, center; Paul McGovern, Gordon Drapeau, guards.

ROSLINDALE, Coach Bill Cunningham—Lost a swell candidate to the Marines last week in Martin Cain, born and raised in Colton, Panama, Boston's bare-foot boy of the courts. Probable starting line-up: Paul Anderson, Donald Kelly, forwards; Russ Sabbag, center;

Dom Bright, Bill Boudreau, guards.

CHARLESTOWN, Coach Walter O'Brien—Biding their time until three candidates end the hockey season then the Towners may roll. Probable starting line-up: Fraa O'Halloran, Sal Lombardo, forwards; Larry Hurley, center; Dan and John Doherty, guards.

EAST BOSTON—Coach, Bill McCarthy. Rounding into a good combination in spite of lack of height, Joe Apicco, center, stands 6.1, but then the team drops to the 5.7 of Paul Poirer, forward, and Frank Marinella, guard. Other starters were to be Albi Berardi, forward, and Pete Wons, guard.

HYDE PARK, Coach Bill Dugan—If the Parkers can overcome some small interferences and injuries, they'll do all right. Joe Shamon, acting captain and forward, is tops; John Kofske, forward, works afterwards, but he'll be available for games; Joe Murphy, center, shows promise; Connie Wipocki, guard, has a "barrel of school spirit"; John Crowley stands 6 feet, weighs 180 pounds at guard. Nuf ced.

SOUTH BOSTON, Coach Leo Banks—They're keeping their fingers crossed over at Southie. Probable starting team; Vito Bucheri, Tom Stevens, forwards; Andy Ryan, 6 ft. 3 in.; Don Foley, Joe Smith, guards.

BRANDEIS VOCATIONAL, Coach George Shepherd. Outside work has slowed up progress of the team but the coach is well pleased, taking all things into consideration. The first team squad has Barker, Franklin, centers; Murphy, Renda, Willett, Durant, forwards; and guards Roberfs, Cappello, Pliskewich, Lynch. The majority have played independently.

Cain Regains Scoring Lead

MONTREAL, Feb. 15 (AP)—Herbie Cain of the Boston Bruins picked up five points, all assists, during the last week of National Hockey League play and went into undisputed possession of first place in the official point standings.

The figures put Lorne Carr of Toronto in second spot, two points behind Cain, with whom he had been tied last week. Seven points behind Carr, with 53 points each, come Doug Bentley and Bill Moskowitz of Chicago.

In fourth spot is Boston's Bill Crowley, who returned to action Sunday night after a layoff of more than three weeks due to injuries. Crowley is still only 10 points off the pace although he has played 10 games less than the other leaders.

Cain leads in goals with 30, while Carr has 28 and Mud Bruneteau of Detroit 27. In the assist department, Elmer Leach of Montreal moved into the lead with 36, two ahead of Clint Smith of Chicago and Buddy O'Connor of Montreal, and three ahead of Crowley.

Harold Jackson of Detroit has moved out in front in penalties with 64 minutes in the box, one more than Mike McMahon of Montreal.

The leaders (first 10):

Player	Points	Goals	Assists
Cain, Boston	53	30	23
Carr, Toronto	52	28	24

The Callahan A. C. will stage 44 rounds of boxing, topped by a featherweight clash between Maurice "Lefty" La Chance of Lisbon, Me., and Vince Dell'Orto of Philadelphia, on Friday at Mechanics Building.

Sammy Angott Placed in 1-A

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 15 (AP)—Sammy Angott, the NBA lightweight boxing champion, has been reclassified 1-A by his draft board and ordered to report for his final physical examination on Feb. 28.

The boxer is en route to Los Angeles to defend his title against Juan Zurita on March 3, and friends said they thought he would be able to have his examination shifted there.

Angott also is scheduled to meet the winner of the Beau Jack-Bob Montgomery match.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15 (AP)—There are 196 American League baseball players in military service but the eight clubs have a total of 260 players on their rosters for the 1944 season.

The league's annual red book today disclosed the number now available, but there might be some cut off by draft into service before the season opens, April 21.

Chicago and Washington have the most players, each 39, while St. Louis has 35, followed by New York and Cleveland with 32 each; Philadelphia, 30; Boston, 26, and Detroit, 25.

Does Your Dog "SCRATCH?"

If He Does, He Is In Torment

The best dog in the world can't be truly happy when he must continually scratch, itch, rub and bite himself, seeking relief from an intense itching irritation that has settled in the nerve endings of his skin. He is in torment—can't help himself. But you may, try giving him, as these made are doing, Ken Hinder Dog Powders, once each week. Note the quick difference. Learn why a glad purchaser wrote: "I surely was pleased, as the 10 packages helped my dog immediately. He has practically quit scratching and he is now a happy dog." Ken Hinder Dog Powders can only be at any good drug store, pet or feed shop.

Pennock Takes Over Phillies

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 15 (AP)—Bob Carpenter, new president of the Phillies, is in the Army today, but with full confidence that the club will fare well in his absence. "I have every confidence in Herb Pennock," general manager who will take over his duties, the 28-year-old socialite sportsman said after he passed his physical examination, was inducted and given a 21-day furlough yesterday.

"I know that he will do the job as well or better than I would."

Olympics Facing Tests on Road

Olympics continue their out-of-town hockey surge with an exhibition tilt with the Curtis Bay Coast Guard Cutters in Baltimore tonight. They move to Philadelphia tomorrow for an Eastern League contest with the Falcons.

The club will return to the Hub Sunday night for a return engagement with the Falcons. The Boston game will be played at the Arena.

Macks Sign Peterson

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15 (AP)—Jim Peterson, who pitched for the Philadelphia Athletics in 1929, has been signed by the A's again to serve in "some capacity and yet decided upon," Manager Connie Mack announced.

Couch Killed In School Riot

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 15 (AP)—Norman Jacobus, 22, of Irvington, died today at St. Michael's Hospital from injuries received in a post-game fight between rival basketball teams.

Police Capt. Frank O'Neill said that as a result of Jacobus' death, a 15-year-old boy and two young men would be arraigned on manslaughter charges.

O'Neill said Jacobus was injured when fist fighting, arising from ill feeling generated by a closely contested game between the St. Columbia Club and St. Leo's, which Jacobus managed, broke out at the Weequahic High School, last Wednesday.
